Everglades Camp is sold

By Alma Henry
PAHOKEE — After standing idle for nine years and the target of criticism twice from NBC network documentaries on migrant conditions in South Florida the Everglades Labor Camp, located on U.S. Highway 441 just Southeast of Pa-hokee was sold Tuesday for $291,359 to Joe Aldeerman, II.

The Board of Directors of the Pa-hokee Housing Authority opened sealed bids Tuesday afternoon after advertising the property for sale for a month.

Alderman was the top bidder among the six businessmen bidding for the 56.74 acre former labor camp which was used to house black migrant workers from 1937 to 1972.

Randy Mills, executive director of the Pa-hokee Housing Authority said each acre was sold for $5,135 per acre.

The second highest bid came from Moyl Bishop of Clewiston. Bishop bid $212,775.

City identifies road projects

BELLE GLADE—Belle Glade City Commissioners directed City Manager Rolfe Wagner to place four proposed road projects in an order of priority of construction. Monday, April 13, at their first regular meeting of the month.

Wagner initially identified five projects for the county road department, but commissioners deleted one of the projects to avoid "diluting" chances of eventually completing the others.

Identified by Wagner were 1. Road and drainage improvements to Avenue E, 2. Improvement of Duda Road between State Road 80 and Airport Road, 3. Improvement of Wedgeworth Road, and 4. Redesign of State Road 80 and Duda Road intersections.

Deleted was extension of Northwest Avenue L approximately 1,000 feet west of State Road 715.

In other business Monday, commissioners:

- Learned that only about 50 percent of the city's drinking water normally obtained from Lake Okeechobee is being obtained through the city's main line to the lake due to a silt joint problem.

Black Gold: bigger, better than ever

By JIM JONES

Belle Glade's Black Gold Jubilee came to an end Sunday night, April 12, with the bang of fireworks marking the end of the biggest and best festival in city history.

The twin blessings of breezy, sunny weather, and a weekend crammed with entertaining events, attracted record crowds to the festivities.

An estimated 25,000 persons took part in the festival as either spectators or participants since the festival started March 28 with a swimming tournament, a police department spokesman said.

The same spokesman said approximately 7,500 persons turned out for the final day Sunday at Torry Island, highlighted by Stella Taylor's 31 mile swim from Moore Haven.

Saturday's parade set the tone for the rest of the Jubilee as marching units, floats, clowns and pretty girls passed waving and applauding citizens along city streets.

"It was an exciting parade," said Parade Marshall Sandra Chamblee, recalling last year's problems when the weather failed to cooperate, dampening spirits and marchers.

"I thought it was the best that we've had," said Lynette Thomas, 16, who had coordinated about eight parades. "The participation was outstanding."

Dolly Hand called the parade marvelous. "I thought everything was great. The crowd and the parade were bigger and better than we have ever had," she said.

Mary Orsenigo was especially pleased with the four marching bands in the parade and called the music "terrific."

Black Gold got off to a quiet start Friday at 3 p.m. as local children took to the marina with canes poles for the fishing contest. Appropriately enough, Ben Fisher won the competition for boys under six with the largest fish and most fish caught.

Top honor for boys over six, Chris Bunting, took top honor for largest fish, while Rubin Johnson, Jr. caught the most fish.

Frankie Peacock caught the largest fish and most fish for girls under six, an honor duplicated by April Haller for girls over six.

Kevin Whitlock won the prize for smallest fish.

Things were a bit more rousing Friday night when seven teams took part in the "Almost Anything Goes" contest. After the dust had settled and contestants had competed in everything from carrying stacks of crates to egg tossing, Seminole Supply was judged the most daring and best "Almost Anything Goes" team. Second was the Lions Club, while All Pro was third. Second Day won the trophy for high school teams.

At 7 a.m. Saturday, a dedicated pack of runners set off on the marathon minus one-half (13½ miles), an event eventually won by Ted Barret, last year's winner. Second was Mike Warner and third was Linda Altman. Linda Erbacher won the women's event.

Sixty-three arts and crafts and food booths opened for business at 9 a.m. at McDonald Park and almost immediately, browsers appeared, taking in the sights and shopping for bargains. One of the most unusual booths was Harold DeTar's fly tying booth, while one Continued on page 2

Courageous Stella Taylor completes swim

By SCOTT ELLIS

Snakes, alligators, a stiff headwind and the freshwater of Lake Okeechobee weren't enough to keep Stella Taylor from being the first woman ever to swim the Rim Canal.

Stella, a former runner, stepped out of the water at about 5:30 p.m. after a 20 hour 11 minute swim that stretched from Moore Haven to the Belle Glade Marina on Torry Island. The hundreds who lined the banks to take in the final festivities at Belle Glade's Third Annual Black Gold Jubilee cheered and applauded the stocky 51-year-old blonde as she left the murky waters.

"It's a nice feeling," Stella said to the army of reporters waiting for her. "Now I have my own swim. It was tough mentally and physically. It was a body of water that had never been tried before."

"I'd say (to myself) come on now, you're supposed to be a marathon swimmer. The pain was never ending."

Fort Lauderdale resident Stella is originally from Bristol, England and has swum the English Channel twice. Taylor has also attempted a Bahama-to-Florida swim three times, spending 51 hours in the water during one effort.

After being rubbed-down with liberal amounts of Vaseline to keep her swimming suit from chafing her, Stella, spunky and full of spirit, entered the canal at a boat ramp in Moore Haven about 9:15 p.m. One of her assistants, "Big John" McLaughlin, followed her in a snorkel outfit for roughly the first hour of the trip.

Jimmie Brown in his boat "Happy Hooker" was right beside Stella for almost all of the swim. Taylor's trainer, Bob Dunkel, watched his swimmer almost constantly, feeding and advising her. Every hour she would take a break, treading water while drinking chocolate milk or coffee with heavy doses of sugar. She also ate crushed peanut butter and honey, all designed to keep her blood sugar level high enough to sustain her during her grueling day.

Auxiliary pumping from the Rim Canal is being used to supplement the main line.

City Manager Rolfe Wagner said he would ask for a special meeting of the commission when he obtains the information needed to act on the problem.

• Approved spending up to $1,000 on the city's old racquet ball courts to make them safe for play. There is some concern about the safety of the structure's walls and balcony.

Officials say this is a temporary measure to give racquet ball players a place to play until the new courts are built.

• Expressed concern over the long time required for the completion of annexation proceedings.

Mayor Thomas Altman called the process "cumbersome," noting that two annexations approved Monday required between a year and six months to finalize.

Commissioners asked that in future annexations that an ordinance be prepared for the first reading

Labor camp

- Other bidders included:
- Curtis Miners: $164,602.
- Bill Kennedy: $125,400.
- Sugar Cane Growers Coop: $113,537 and
- Willie M. Johnson: $101,000.

The board required a 10 per cent deposit upon acceptance of the contract; one-third of the purchase price will be required at the closing; and the authority will finance the balance.

Prior to the closing of the labor camp in 1972, tenants of the authority were moved to new developments. Fremd Village and Padgett Island.

In other business before the board:

- Heard a report from Mills that the Authority will perform a Utility Allowance Study on tenants living in the four housing units.

Mills said he had received over 8,000 electric bills from Florida Power and Light and the study would begin immediately. Mills said the housing authority has been told by HFDL the study must be completed by the end of May.

Mills told the board to re-examination and the verification of tenants income should be completed within two weeks. Mills said the two project managers and himself would work the weekend of April 24 through the 26th to complete the re-examination.

Mills said he does not expect the rents to go up much because over 50 male heads of household were added last year which raised rent schedules substantially.

Mills said because of an increase in Social Security payment to the elderly last summer there will be an increase in a number of the senior citizens rents. "The rent will go up approximately $3 for the senior citizens with Social Security increases," said Mills.

• Agreed to re-open negotiations with the City of Palm Beach on the purchase of a garbage truck.

• Heard a report from Mills on the repair of water lines in Stuckey Homes. Mills said as a result of repairs the water consumption has decreased by a large percentage.

• Accepted bids on the purchase of a pavement roller and mower.

• Heard a report from Mills, the housing authority would be audited in late August or the first week of September.

The First Baptist Church would be charged approximately $500 for disconnecting a two inch water main that runs the length of the church.

Afterword signing of a new country club lease with Joe Vayins, One of the concession has been assigned responsibility for the replacement of unseasonable equipment at the country club. Under the new agreement, Vayins will be responsible for replacement of items due to fair wear and tear. The items will be depreciated over time and should Vayins' lease be broken, he would be reimbursed for the depreciated value of equipment installed.

• Approved a travel expense policy which will permit the city manager to approve travel for city employees. Employees will be reimbursed for meals and travel at rates spelled out in Public Law 96-346 and in O.M.B. Bulletin 8-15.

City commissioners will approve travel and expenses for the city manager.

• Directed that an ordinance be drawn up which would allow Robert M. Hooker to erect a "welcome to Belle Glade" sign for Dino's Pizza off State Road 80 about 600 feet from Duda Road.

The property is currently zoned agricultural and only signs related to agricultural business are permitted.

• Appointed Commissioner Dorothy Walker to the 208 Implementation Advisory Committee.

Annexations approved Monday include Gracian Bryan's property on 708 N.W. 17th St., Kirchman Oil Corp. property on 1200 N. Main St., Thomas Bonavia's property on 1180 S. Main St., and the amendment of the legal description for the annexation of property belonging to George L. Connell at East Lake Park Subdivision Addition No. 4.

Approved the abandonment of an alley between N.W. Avenues B and C for the First Baptist Church. Rev. Robert Atkins said the church intends to eventually build an auditorium on the site facing the highway. An abandoned service station on North Main Street would be torn down to make room for the addition.

Day School (GDC) in the kindergarten division, St. Peters first grade, Linda Middleton, GDS second grader Roundy Hiltz, Glades View third grader Nestor Betanzos, Christian Day School fourth grader Susie Gray, Lake Shore fifth grade, Alina Ramos, and Christian Day School sixth graders Vickie Shackelford and Stacy Bohannon.

Saturday's events concluded with a dance thrown by the Glades Association for Retarded Citizens at the Elks Lodge, which raised about $2,300.

Activities resumed at the city marina Sunday at 1 p.m. with a chicken barbecue. Hungry crowds made short work of the roast fowl and by 4 p.m. the barbecue was reported sold out.

While the crowd waited for Stella Taylor to complete the last leg of her epic swim, Sunshine Wade, 18, entertained with a variety of acrobatic stunts, which drew bursts of applause and cheers from the spectators.

In the raft races this year, the only race was for second place. South Bay Gourne sleek "Vegetable Power" peddled away from all challengers. The only problem Susie Hodges and Marsha Pennington had in the women's race was leg cramps from peddling too hard. Following were mens and mixed races, and "Vegetable Power" proved that it was without doubt the class of the field. Winning the mens race were Donald Miller and Steve Goodbread, while Jerry and Diana Miller won the mixed race.

Also staged during the afternoon were pie eating, horse shoe, pet show, and greased pole climbing contests.

When the exhausted Stella Taylor finally climbed out of the Rio Canal about 5:30 p.m., ending a 20 hour, 11 minute, 29 second swim covering 31 miles, the day was complete. The swim temporarily, in Belle Glade, left, eclipsed the launch of America's first space shuttle.

The crowd and a swarm of newspaper reporters and television cameramen stepped right up to the water's edge, trying to get the best photos and quotes.

When the fire followed at dark, it was a colorful end to a nearly perfect weekend, one that Black Gold Jubilee Committee members have already begun thinking about how to surpass next year.

Predicting and noting

The Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., is sponsoring its second annual Violet Anderson NAACP Community Service Award banquet Saturday at the Lakeside Country club.

We all know of the good works the NAACP have done for the building of equality for all persons in the United States and Saturday's affair will be an excellent time to support one of the nation's oldest civic right organizations and the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, one of the Glades community's most charitable organizations.

Gerald Adams, a newly elected city commissioner for the city of Riviera Beach, and a former Equal Opportunity officer for Palm Beach County, will be the keynote speaker.

Adams, should have much food for thought on the coming politics of Black Americans.

Saturday will also be a time to see some of the area's most dedicated citizens honored.

Don't let the banquet pass you by.

It seems the Glades Central Raiders boys and girls track teams are unbeatable. The Raiders have won virtually all of their track meets this year and have several team members with the best time in their class in the state and the best time outright.

Although the Raiders coaches are hesitant to predict how the Raiders will do at state competition, the Raiders have a darn good chance of winning the championship for their class, in addition to having several first place winners.

It seems I can now officially call myself a fortune teller.

Last week I predicted the city's public works team would finish next to last in the city's almost Anything Goes contest, held in conjunction with the Black Gold Jubilee.

My prediction was on the money and one team member has accused me of putting a jinx on the team. Now would I do something like that?

Better luck next year guys and dolls.

Michelle Herring crawls to win in baby contest Saturday.

The Unsinkable Stella Taylor

SCOTT ELLIS

"She's unbelievable!"

That was a comment that one particular crew member on the houseboat that followed Stella Taylor on her history-making swim kept making over and over throughout the ordeal. And it was a comment that I think almost everyone can concur with.

Stella Taylor has become the first woman and probably the first person to ever marathon-swim Lake Okeechobee. She travelled down the Rim Canal (Okeechobee Waterway) from Moore Haven to Tory Island's Belle Glade Marina in 20 hours. She fought off pain constantly during the trip. She is a tough gal.

Pete Kirchman and others helped make arrangements for Stella's swim including the press arrangements. Readers from TV and the Gold Coast and me accompanied Stella on her swim in Doug Wedgworth's houseboat. While a few fell asleep for part of the night, most stayed awake, fascinated by the lady in the lake who was

Getting older, getting better

Back in the 1920s, my father had a tooth knocked out in a school yard softball game. Right then, he made up his mind that he didn't want anything else to do with athletics.

I suppose that's one reason he wasn't exactly thrilled when I tried football and track back in my high school days. The fling at football lasted exactly one spring training when I played linebacker and defensive back. I stayed with track throughout, though I never exactly achieved my ambition to be an acclaimed olympic athlete.

While my father's enthusiasm for sports was lukewarm, most of the things his kids took part in received his full attention. He loved and loves kids more than just about any one I've ever ran across.

If you have ever seen one of our family photo albums, you would know what I mean. Our family was one of those which had her kids, his kids, and ours. He treated them all the same, however, and all seven of us eventually learned to get along pretty well too.

Getting along is a fair accomplishment among siblings. I've seen twins who didn't exactly hit it off.

I can remember days of going to the St. Johns River, digging for clams, enjoying a picnic under the big oaks or going to the saltwater north of Flagler Beach, looking for oysters in winter. It didn't matter if the hands turned blue from the freezing weather, it was great fun.

His education-like many others of his generation-was short circuited by the Great Depression. He retained a passion for education. All seven of his kids earned their high school diplomas, an accomplishment he is most proud of.

Though a lot of it didn't take on his eldest son-methinks he tried to pass on his craft, mechanics. If it could be broken, he could fix it and I'm sure that he belongs in some mechanics hall of fame.

After a lifetime of getting grease under his fingernails, he hung up his wrenches this past fall. He wanted to do on longer, but nagging illness had forced him to step aside.

His health seems to be coming around and I would say that he probably feels better now than he has in several years.

He will be 65 Friday, April 17. Happy birthday, Dad. Seems like you are still 39 to me.

If there is anyone who is getting better, rather than older, it has to be you.

Congratulations Stella! You're a heck of a lady and a fine athlete. You made our Black Gold Jubilee 1981 something to remember forever.

Council rejects harbor bids

PAHOKEE — The Pahokee City Council rejected all bids on the improvements of the city harbor. At the regular meeting of the Council Tuesday night, Apr. 14, the Council voted to reject all bids after the bids came in approximately $100,000 over the estimated cost of the harbor improvement repair.

Jim Sloane, the city consultant engineer with Russell and Exxon told the Council the project would cost approximately $50,000 and funds would be available from the county.

Sloane said he under-estimated the cost of the improvements and had no one to blame for the low estimation.

Sloane said the Council still had several options to finance the cost of the improvements.

Through the application of grant money available from the Department of Natural Resources and the Army Corp of Engineers, Palm Beach County and Community Development Sloane said there was still a possibility the city would be eligible for funds from one of these agencies.

Randy Mills, executive director of the Pahokee Housing Authority appeared before the Council and asked the Council if they were willing to re-open negotiations on the garbage truck agreement the authority and city had worked on previously.

Councilman Curtis Miners said he was interested in re-opening the negotiations. "The city is worse off now than we were then," said Miners.

The Council agreed to hold a workshop session Monday, Apr. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall with the Board of Directors of the Authority.

In other business before the Council:

- Delayed taking action on bids for gas, oil and chemicals for the Utilities Department.

Tourney results

It's big bass time on the Big "O". I have seen more big bass in the past few days than I have seen in the last 6 months combined. These big lunkers started their trip to the docks with Sunday's Black Gold Jubilee Bass Tournament. A super catch of 16 fish weighing 55 pounds 5 ounces was brought by Joe (Big Fish) Taylor of Belle Glade. The Clewiston Testers fared well as big fish boners (6 lbs. - 6 oz.) Second place was a nice 28 pound, 8 ounce strings caught by Dick Godfrey of Belle Glade and Johnny Jones of Ft. Lauderdale. Carl Courson and Robert Goodson both of Belle Glade, took 5th place with 18 pounds, 5 ounces.

The bass are really turned on with spoons. Kirby Sands, a guide at Slim's Fish Camp, caught two nice lunkers weighing 10 pounds, 2 ounces, and 10 pounds, 3 ounces.

Blue gills are trying to out do the bass by filling the fisherman's coolers in abundance. They are making a regular diet of crickets, worms, and beetle spin lures. The rim canal is filling up with big bluegills with the overflow of fish finding their way into the dynamite holes south of the fish camp. Abb (on-a-roll) Peacock fishing with Harold Peacock caught 56 nice bluegill while fishing with crickets in the rim canal. Mr. Peacock is expanding his fishing expertise by showing his skills at fishing for panfish as well as bass. Mr. Peacock is practicing up in case he finds someone holding a panfish tournament Good luck Abb.

Speaking of tournaments, (baseball tournaments) I want to remind you that there are several good tournaments being held in the near future, so contact us here at Slim's and we will help you with your applications.

Speckled perch are making their bid for top honor with good limits being taken from the Tree Island area and the dynamite holes. Daytime or nighttime fishing with live minnows and jigs is really hot.

I missed one of our outstanding local fishermen in last week's column. Mr. Kenneth (Rooter) McIntosh placed fifth in our own Slim's Bass 'N Classic No. 1 Sorry About that.

JUST BEFORE ENTERING the murky Lake Okeechobee Rim Canal in Moore Haven 9 p.m. Saturday night, marathon swimmer Stella Taylor is rubbed down with jars of Vaseline.

STELLA'S style was called unorthodox.

TAYLOR keeps going through the long night, helped along by refreshment during her hourly breaks.

and night in the lake.

And it was painful several times during the trek for Taylor, as she continually broke through numerous "pain barriers," as she termed them.

At 11:30 a.m. she complained of arm cramps, grimacing and moaning in pain.

"I've got a terrible cramp," she shouted. "We've got to keep going."

Two hours later. Stella was fighting pain and fatigue again, as she asked the press on the houseboat accompanying her to stop taking pictures, temporarily.

"I'm going through a pain barrier right now. I can't use this arm right."

Just a few minutes later, Taylor apparently was through the barrier, because her stroke picked up and she began using her previously sore arm much better. Stella's per minute stroke averaged about 65-70. Her speed during the 31-mile swim was about 1.6 mph.

Except for the slight headwind, the weather for the swim was good. The air temperature dipped to only about 68 degrees at night, with water temperature perhaps little warmer, according to Bob Pausour an International Swimming Hall of Fame observer who was on the houseboat to officially validate Stella's swim.

The water got a little choppy at times and the wakes created by unthinking boaters who roared down the canal were also upsetting Taylor. At one point, Stella was seen crying.

Things like that proved to be a bigger hazard for Stella than the 100-plus alligators sighted. With their luminous red eyes shining through the night or the water moccassins. Game wardens, officials of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department and personnel aboard the Happy Hooker riding shotgun helped protect Taylor from whatever threats there were.

Taylor also commented on how much rougher it was to stay afloat in freshwater, as compared to her increased buoyancy in the salt water of the Atlantic Ocean.

Stella also complained of sometimes having to fetch her own food and drink during the trip, understandable considering the marathon swim she was completing. And under Hall of Fame rules, she couldn't grab a hold on any person or boat.

"Someone should be doing this stuff, taking it (food) out to me on a dinghy...I'm doing all the work here. That's the way (with a dinghy) that we did it in the Bahamas," she said.

Stella's trainer didn't tell her of the successful Space Shuttle launch, which came at 7 a.m. Radios on the houseboat were turned in to the event, but Stella was permitted to concentrate fully on her mission.

But at 12:18 a.m., during Taylor's midnight feed, she remarked "It's Palm Sunday," remembering a holiday that coincided with herfeat and Black Gold.

Around 1 a.m., Walter Poenisch, a marathon swimmer from Ohio who said he completed a Cuba to Florida swim in 1980, predicted Taylor would make it.

"Stella takes short, wide strokes," Poenisch said. "She takes two strokes to my one. It's harder that way, but she's doing damn good. I think she's going to do it."

Pausour concurred with Poenisch on Taylor's unorthodox style.

"Everybody's tried to change her stroke, but the fact is, is that she gets the job done," Pausour said.

Most professional swimmers, Pausour said, reach straight out as far as they can when they stroke. But Taylor spreads her arms out in wider arcs.

Besides intermittent goggle trouble, Taylor's body was visibly drained by the strain she was putting on it. At daybreak, everyone could see that her hands and lips were blue.

When she passed through Clewiston, around 6:45 a.m., Stella had to dodge dozens of boats involved in a bass fishing contest. A small crowd had greeted her earlier at Uncle Joe's Fish Camp, but didn't get in her way.

Before she approached South Bay, only about two miles from her goal, Stells gave an excited shout to her crew, and the houseboat personnel applauded. When she approached South Bay about 4:05 p.m., she was a little more than an hour away from the finish, her victory and the adulation of perhaps all of the Glades.

Obviously exhausted, Stella still greeted the press clustered around the Sunshine Sports Marina, and she talked with them freely for several minutes. She said her next project would be a double-channel crossing of the English Channel, as soon as she could obtain the necessary sponsors. She finally fought her way to a waiting ambulance which took her to Glade General Hospital for recuperation and rest.

"I can't tell you how happy I am," Taylor said. "All of you here to see me are just wonderful. What I need now is a hot shower!"

Editor:

Having worked on the Black Gold Jubilee since its inception we have seen the important part played by the press in promoting the annual festival for the community and surrounding areas.

We think the Herald-Observer, Palm Beach Post Times and Glades Trend deserve a very special Thank You for supporting the Jubilee so generously and positively.

Because of the wonderful support given to the Jubilee by the press it has become an annual event to look forward to each year for the families of the area.

The Glades Trend deserves an extra special thanks for helping print the first booklet of the Jubilee and its delivery.

The air temperature dipped to only about 68 degrees at night, with water temperature perhaps little warmer, according to Bob Pausour an International Swimming Hall of Fame observer who was on the houseboat to officially validate Stella's swim.

The water got a little choppy at times and the wakes created by unthinking boaters who roared down the canal were also upsetting Taylor. At one point, Stella was seen crying.

Things like that proved to be a bigger hazard for Stella than the 100-plus alligators sighted. With their luminous red eyes shining through the night or the water moccassins. Game wardens, officials of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department and personnel aboard the Happy Hooker riding shotgun helped protect Taylor from whatever threats there were.

Taylor also commented on how much rougher it was to stay afloat in freshwater, as compared to her increased buoyancy in the salt water of the Atlantic Ocean.

Stella also complained of sometimes having to fetch her own food and drink during the trip, understandable considering the marathon swim she was completing. And under Hall of Fame rules, she couldn't grab a hold on any person or boat.

"Someone should be doing this stuff, taking it (food) out to me on a dinghy...I'm doing all the work here. That's the way (with a dinghy) that we did it in the Bahamas," she said.

Stella's trainer didn't tell her of the successful Space Shuttle launch, which came at 7 a.m. Radios on the houseboat were turned in to the event, but Stella was permitted to concentrate fully on her mission.

But at 12:18 a.m., during Taylor's midnight feed, she remarked "It's Palm Sunday," remembering a holiday that coincided with herfeat and Black Gold.

Around 1 a.m., Walter Poenisch, a marathon swimmer from Ohio who said he completed a Cuba to Florida swim in 1980, predicted Taylor would make it.

"Stella takes short, wide strokes," Poenisch said. "She takes two strokes to my one. It's harder that way, but she's doing damn good. I think she's going to do it."

Pausour concurred with Poenisch on Taylor's unorthodox style.

"Everybody's tried to change her stroke, but the fact is, is that she gets the job done," Pausour said.

Most professional swimmers, Pausour said, reach straight out as far as they can when they stroke. But Taylor spreads her arms out in wider arcs.

Besides intermittent goggle trouble, Taylor's body was visibly drained by the strain she was putting on it. At daybreak, everyone could see that her hands and lips were blue.

When she passed through Clewiston, around 6:45 a.m., Stella had to dodge dozens of boats involved in a bass fishing contest. A small crowd had greeted her earlier at Uncle Joe's Fish Camp, but didn't get in her way.

Before she approached South Bay, only about two miles from her goal, Stells gave an excited shout to her crew, and the houseboat personnel applauded. When she approached South Bay about 4:05 p.m., she was a little more than an hour away from the finish, her victory and the adulation of perhaps all of the Glades.

Obviously exhausted, Stella still greeted the press clustered around the Sunshine Sports Marina, and she talked with them freely for several minutes. She said her next project would be a double-channel crossing of the English Channel, as soon as she could obtain the necessary sponsors. She finally fought her way to a waiting ambulance which took her to Glade General Hospital for recuperation and rest.

"I can't tell you how happy I am," Taylor said. "All of you here to see me are just wonderful. What I

TAKING IT FROM THE TOP

By REV. DAVID T. EVANS,
Everglades Presbyterian Church

Sunday is Easter! This day that is celebrated as a time for renewal and new life is set as the highpoint of the Christian year.

Each year comes at a time when our country and the world needs renewal and new life. Our nation is struggling with disappointment with leadership and credibility of the energy crisis.

We ourselves are dismayed and frightened by the violence and terrorism. We are threatened by further inflation and loss of security. At every turn there is rising costs, apprehension about health, and fear of personal safety.

Into the depths of despair came one, Jesus of Nazareth, who said, "A new commandment I give you. That you love one another even as I love you." He came to tell people who were depressed, oppressed, and both helpless and hopeless that there is hope in God's love.

While the prophets of doom ring the bell announcing one crisis after another that we still have resources if we use them well. Our fight against pollution has already made gains. The talent of the minds of men and women have not been tapped to develop new methods of transportation and energy. Now is the time, at the beginning of the third century of independence, that we plan and work for new life.

Now is the time for the Christians, individuals, and collectively to express love and willingly make sacrifices for each other. We have had a comparatively easy life for thirty-five years. We have been tearing down barns and building bigger ones. We need to re-evaluate our resources and use the physical and spiritual resources wisely.

Now at Easter is the time to take another look at Jesus, he came not only to Bethlehem, Nazareth and Jerusalem, but He came to us. Jesus came God's answer to a world of greed, selfishness and corruption. God was not content to leave us in our frustration but came to us in love.

The death of Christ was necessary to get the attention of all men including you and me. As today, the men of Jesus' time were looking out for themselves, and oppressing others. God wanted to show that His love was the only answer to the world's problems.

On Palm Sunday, on such a day as last Sunday, Jesus rode into the city of Jerusalem and was crowned unofficial King of the Jews. He came to be lord of the hearts of men. This threatened the status quo, the leadership and they arrested him and crucified him.

The Hosannas of the Palm Sunday became "crucify him, crucify him." The agony of the cross was joy to Christ because He was showing us the way to new life. The open tomb of Easter is thrilling but it is important only if we remember the darkness of Golgotha.

God has given us new life in abundance in Christ who loves us so much that He willingly died for us.

Only as we grasp the victory of good over evil; only as we see that selflessness can overcome selfishness; only when we make the sacrificing love of Christ our own can we have hope in the world.

Love came to the world at Easter. Love can come into your life if you will roll about the stone of your heart and let Christ live in your life.

David T. Evans

Princess—
Her Easter Bonnet

Twenty-five years ago I placed this copy in Baby Book—Volume Four. Her own first Easter Bonnet—PRINCESS—HER EASTER BONNET

While Dad often picked out a women's hat and had it tailored to fit, this was a hand fashion hat. Easter was a day he took very seriously.

I still give up words to express with Princess, he was a d'Orsay never from the dead—will these disciples ever learn a lesson?

Handwritten annotations:

But you and I have had a hard time. And that makes Easter the greatest day of all time. You know what I mean? Because when you put your head low, you're gonna be in trouble. In Jesus' words, "Put your head up, son."

MORE PONTIAC KNOW-HOW COMES TO YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD.

BOB HEGLEY, INC. GRAND OPENING!

KNOW-HOW IN OUR NEW PONTIACS. Our 1981 line-up offers exciting innovations from Research and Development, Engineering and Design that combine to make up Pontiac's new Efficiency System. In all gasoline-powered models, this System includes GM's Computer Command Control. A series of sensors continuously monitors engine temperature, engine speed, throttle position, altitude, barometric pressure and oxygen content in the exhaust. Tiny computer chips in the electronic-control module analyze this data, then regulate the combustion for a precise air/fuel mixture. But that's just the beginning.

Pontiac know-how shows up in many exciting ways. For example, Grand Prix glides into 1981 with dramatic new aerodynamic lines, LeMans and Grand LeMans 4-door sedans show the world a formal new roofline. And Phoenix, Pontiac's X car, invites five people to enjoy the advantages of front-wheel drive.

KNOW-HOW IN OUR STAFF. Our people have even more information for you on all our new Pontiacs, and on top-value used cars, too. They're ready to deal. And they probably have more ways to arrange financing for you than a bank.

KNOW-HOW IN OUR MODERN SERVICE

DEPARTMENT. We know the importance of service. Our qualified service technicians use

Pontiac know-how and the right equipment to get you back on the road in the shortest time feasible.

That's the kind of Pontiac know-how you'll find at our new dealership. So drop by our showroom soon and take a look at our great line-up of new '81 Pontiacs!
